3. Brush over the suede with the suede brush.
4. Apply a little bit of vinegar to the stains.
5. Gently scrub the stains with the dry cloth and let the suede air-dry

To clean mud, oil or ink, you'll need one or more of the following:

- Dry-cleaning solvent
- Blotting paper
- Leather-product degreaser
- Suede brush
- Nail file
- High-nap towel
- Clean, dry cloth

Here's what to do:

- Ink stains Blot the stain immediately to remove excess ink. Dab on a bit of dry cleaning solvent. The solvent and stain should evaporate.
- Mud Gently scrape off the mud with a nail file

Rub the suede gently with a nail file or towel to help restore the nap after cleaning

Recommendations:

- Spray new suede items with a suede protection product, readily available in stores. Test a small hidden section before you spray the entire item.
- Don't clean oil or grease stains with water, as it might spread the stain.
- Brush off dust with a suede brush. Don't use the brush for anything else.
